

Warren Central High School Winter Guard is proud to present their 2011 production, "Fiat Lux"
(pronounced fē-ät-luks).

Fiat Lux
is Latin for the proverb, "Let There Be Light."

Part Three: The Light, honors the passing of dark days and celebrates appreciation for the lessons learned in youth.

*No more rowdiness, acting uncouth;
So appreciative I survived my youth,
Solid the commitment between Naomi and Ruth,
Because of this light, I saw the truth.
Blinded by the Light.*

*I received my sight.
The sun showed day from night.
The dark days took flight.*

Warren Central Winterguard 2011

FIAT LUX

Let there be light...

*Vision clear,
Thought I'd share.
A long road leading nowhere.
Here, there, everywhere
A lot, little, no time to spare.
Up, down, on the ground,
Nights my head would pound and pound,
Aching from loud, screaming sounds.
Oh yes, having fun,
Not someone, anyone,
Up all night 'til the sun,
Living life as if it had just begun.*

*Laughing, crying, wanting to run,
Drugs, alcohol, knives, and guns,
Tired, burned out, both sides done,
Many friends, seemed I had none.
And low and behold, I was Blinded by the Light.*

Part One: The Dark Side, reflects upon the hardships of urban youth as seen through mature eyes.

The original soundtrack, composed by Josh Talbott, D.J. Felli Fel, Ms. Cynthia and Dmitri Greene, seamlessly shifts into unexpected styles in combination with astonishing visual effects.

Part Two: The Anointing, unveils youth's blindness and ignorance to the subtle joys of life.

*Couldn't see left or right,
Couldn't tell day from night,
Everything was already alright.*

*Way down, lifted up,
Dry and thirsty he filled my cup.
Ashen, he anointed my head with oil.
Now true purpose work and toil,
Fruits of labor from sacred Saul.
Blind all that time,
Darkness my uncontrived crime.
Soulful, wasting valuable time,
Ignorant to what was his,
Could be mine?*